Hull is fiberglass sandwich construction using closed-cell PVC foam core. Closed-cell PVC foam does not deteriorate or absorb water. Fiberglass schedule uses heavy hand lay-up mat and roving. The composite structure serves both as a buoyancy material and shock, sound and temperature insulator. It rides quiet, increases impact strength and eliminates condensation build-up inside the hull. Decks and superstructure are fiberglass sandwich construction.

Saloon

The saloon is entered through double doors from the covered aft deck. To starboard is a comfortable built-in L-shaped settee with generous storage under. The port side features two (2) Ekornes stressless chairs and side table. There are large opening screened windows port and starboard, a retractable screen for the aft doors, mini-blinds with teak valances and fitted and bound carpeting.
